

Community Outreach

Risa has lectured on topics regarding women's health, pelvic pain and dysfunction at the California Chapter APTA annual conference, the University of California at Davis Medical School Grand Rounds and to physical therapy students at California State University Sacramento and the University of the Pacific. She also serves as a clinical preceptor for students from these institutions.