

What is Biofeedback for the Pelvic Floor Muscles?

Your health care provider has recommended biofeedback evaluation and treatment for the muscles of your pelvic floor. These muscles are responsible for bladder and bowel control as well as sexual response. Anyone interested in learning how to relax tense muscles, strengthen weak ones, or to control and coordinate use of muscles may benefit from biofeedback.